WHAT YOU WILL LEARN

Participants will learn about unique approaches to resolving collaborative cases from nationally recognized speakers. Dr. Gerald Monk, Professor and Co-Author of Narrative Mediation: A New Approach to Conflict Resolution will teach what narrative mediation is, the story process within narrative mediation and how this process can be applied in collaborative divorces.

Janice Green, collaborative lawyer and author of Divorce After 50 – Your Guide to the Unique Legal and Financial Challenges and Kristen Algert, collaborative lawyer, lecturer and President of the Collaborative Law Institute of Texas, join together to present the ins and outs of the legal, financial, emotional and practical issues facing couples going through divorce later in life.

CONTINUING EDUCATION CREDITS

This course is approved by the Maryland Board of Social Work Examiners (Maryland-NASW) for six (6) continuing education credits, sponsored by the National Family Resiliency Center, who assumes responsibility for the program and content. Psychologists, licensed professional counselors, and marriage and family therapists will be awarded a Certificate of Attendance. Continuing education credits will also be awarded to Virginia lawyers and financial professionals.
